COVENTRY ENGINEERING LTD. – SERVICE UPDATE AND CONTINUED SUPPORT COVID-19

Like every business Coventry Engineering has been affected by the current worldwide Pandemic. Affected but not deterred.....Coventry Engineering remains open for business with our sales team, design capability and manufacturing facility fully functioning. Yes, some of us are working from home offices and working methods have had to be modified to ensure that our staff are working safely and in accordance with the latest government guidelines. All of this means that we strive to continue to operate our business for our valued customers. The sales team are contactable via phone and email with video conferencing being available, we are open for deliveries and are shipping products daily. Thanks go out to our partners in the UK and across Europe who are still making shipments ensuring our supply chain remains strong. Stay safe.
